MAGTECH LAUNCHES NEW WEBSITE

Magtech Ammunition, Inc., a manufacturer and distributor of ammunition products, launches their new 2006 website.

The recent launch of Magtech's new, highly anticipated website is packed with new information and valuable resources. Visit www.magtechammunition.com to take a virtual tour of their vertically integrated manufacturing facility. In addition, navigate through the product section where you can drill-down to the most detailed product data of any website in the industry. There is a safety section for new shooters and they recommend that experienced shooters revisit this section on a regular basis as a reminder of safe gun handling. If you're a competitive shooter, take a look at the "Team Magtech" section to find out how to become a new member and receive valuable incentives. If you want to find the nearest Magtech dealer, please visit the consumer tab in the "How to Buy" section. Magtech welcomes you to spend some time browsing through the site to find many other features like FAQs, Links, Magtech Logo Merchandise, a downloadable PDF of the 2006 Magtech catalog, ballistic tables, and a fantastic media center where media moguls can find the latest product photos, logos, and press releases from Magtech Ammunition.

For the past 80 years, Magtech Ammunition has been using the highest quality materials, cutting-edge manufacturing technology and state-of-the-art equipment to provide the shooting industry with exceptional standards for ammunition manufacturing and distribution. Each round is designed and constructed to meet SAAMI and CIP technical specifications for reliability, consistency and safety.
